Changing Tone.

It is noticeable that as the armies of the United States make progress in the war, and one after another the strongholds of the rebellion fall into our hands, the public pulse, both North and South, beats in unison with the progress. Receiving for what they are worth the thousand tales that daily [illegible] of peace, and discrediting the great part of the stories that we continually hear of changing sentiment of rebel leaders in Richmond, &c., which are as often based upon the absurd credulity of the public as upon the speculative schemes of Wall street, we must still recognize that there is a change, and a great one, too, taking place in the hopefulness with which Southern men view their own position, and in the opinions advanced in many quarters by the opposition press in the Northern States. We are gravely told by our dispatches that Blair, after his return from Richmond, privately assured his friends that the rebel leaders were all anxious for a very quick [illegible], that Davis would make peace upon almost any terms, and that the rebel chief had begged of him to have the Constitutional amendment abolishing slavery adopted, that no seeds might be left to sow future dissension in the South. It is not probable that Blair would publicly make such a report, even if he had the matter [illegible] upon affairs of great public moment [illegible] so flippantly talked of in the incipient stages, and public men do not [illegible] their reputation for statesmanship upon such [illegible].

Singleton has returned to Washington from his self-imposed [illegible] to Richmond, and [illegible] confirms [illegible] statement that the rebel leaders are [illegible] prepared to negotiate on the basis of submission to the Union." This report is [illegible] great as have been Southern reverses in the last two months, and agitated as the Southern mind is upon the issues of the day, it is very doubtful if they are yet prepared to yield even in view of all the disasters and discouragements that beset their way. It is something to know that they begin to think of yielding—that the matter is discussed among them at all, and that some are already found bold enough to take positions friendly to the Union. The Mississippian reviews the causes that led to the civil war, and owns that the South was arrogant, while it says the North was fanatic, and that slavery was the rock on which the Union split. The Richmond Enquirer, viewing the situation as almost hopeless, congratulates itself that if, "after every manly effort," the South must fail, it will be better to submit to the Union and become part of the United States again, than to form an alliance with either England, France or Maximilian, and rather heroically intimates that they can salve their wounded honor by uniting the now hostile armies under the old flag to sweep intruders off our continent. The Raleigh Progress boldly takes ground in favor of "reconstruction," and we do not hear that mobs have destroyed that press, which would have been a sure result a few months since.

There is steadily working in the South a disintegrating element that bodes ruin to the Confederate cause. The question is being asked, Why did we commence the war? The time for sober second thought has arrived. Southern men and women reason by the light of experience. Mournfully they remember the peaceful, happy days of Union, as they grieve by new made graves, and lament over homes that are desolate and impoverished, and a land that groans under the ravages of destroying war. The time has come when some dare question, and many doubt, and the defiant tone of Southern men and Southern journals has at least changed to an anxious one singularly contrasting with the confidence continually expressed before. Some of them whistle to keep their courage up; but when was a cause ever bolstered upon the wind? We are not to suppose that the submission of the South is to result from popular conviction of their error, or that the rebel States would ever return to their allegiance without the persuasive argument of saltpeter. That they eventually will become reconciled to a Union without slavery, and that the hotspur spirit will become absorbed in time by the cultivation of social intercourse with all the States, we do not doubt; but all this must be preceded by submission, and submission must be induced by that most unfortunate of arbiters they have chosen, war. In the meantime we hail every expression of the once smothered idea of Union—every remonstrance against the inexorable tyranny of Jeff. Davis—as a harbinger of the coming peace.

There is equal significance in the fact that the New York World, a most able and influential opposition journal, seems willing to drop the slavery question, and says of it:

"Before another Presidential election, the Abolition question will probably be in such a state that past ideas will not apply. As the problem advances toward its predetermined solution, we shall see public opinion more and more disposed to acquiesce in the manifest tendency of events. Before the expiration of its new lease of power, the Republican party will have secured a constitutional amendment for the entire extirpation of slavery in the United States."

The World realizes that slavery once done away with as it inevitably will be, some new material must be found to construct Democratic platforms of, and while it incurs the indignation of other Copperhead journals by thus tacitly confessing that some new planks must be found to build a party platform upon, it has [illegible] that the Union cause must ultimately prevail, and slavery become defunct. The World moves, and the Democratic press must move a little out of its present course or it will soon be found advocating the rebellion when rebellion has ceased to exist, and be still clamoring for slavery when all the civilized world has shouted hosannas because it has ceased to be.

CHEAP FLOUR.—Private dispatches received a few days since state that a cargo of the flour, 17,000 barrels, lately arrived at San Francisco, and that the flour market had a slight tendency downwards in consequence.

The man who brings the British peace address to the President is Rev. Joseph Barker, formerly notorious in this country as a preacher of infidelity and anti-slavery. He became disgusted at his poor success here, returned to England, renounced his infidelity and became a clergyman. Lately he has been traveling in England as an agent for the rebels.

By Overland Telegraph.

[illegible] TO THE OREGONIAN.

DATES TO FEBRUARY 2.

How Fort Fisher Blew Up—Peace Humbug Exploded.

The Herald's Washington dispatch says: The Navy Department has received confirmation of the report that a telegraph wire was discovered after the explosion at Fort Fisher, leading across Cape Fear river and about two miles into the [illegible]. There is but little doubt that the magazine was purposely exploded by the rebels.

All peace negotiations with Richmond are now very thoroughly exploded, although [illegible] in other quarters, to [illegible] the proclamation of Governors of Georgia and North Carolina. It is stated that it was [illegible] the object of Stanton's visit to Savannah to advise Sherman that if the rebels should propose terms of peace, he should hold himself in readiness, in behalf of his Government, to accept.

What the Rebels Tried to Do on the James.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The Herald's correspondence, dated near Petersburg, Jan. 28th, says: The rebel ram movement on the James was deeper [illegible] than was supposed. The rams were to move down the river just as they did and destroy our pontoons. Signal rockets were to be sent up by Walker, and intelligence to be conveyed to Lee that the pontoon part of the business had been accomplished. After destroying the pontoons, the rams were to prevent re-inforcements from being sent from the south to the north side. Simultaneously with the above was to commence a dashing attack on Ord's lines on the north side of the James. Lee having massed a heavy force in front of them for this purpose, designing to attempt, by overwhelming numbers and a sudden attack, to destroy that part of Grant's army.

Sherman's New Campaign.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The World's special dispatch mentions the beginning of a new campaign by Sherman which will be brief but grand. It says: The attainment of the ultimate object of their attention will create for them more prestige and glory than the capture of a hundred ordinary cities. Every available soldier in Sherman's army has left Savannah, Beaufort and Port Royal. The destination is still a mystery to the enemy, who continue to guess. No matter where they may now be treading, eventually they will be seen in the vicinity of Charleston. Sherman has not given his programme to print, and his troops evince no curiosity in the matter.

Deserters from Hardee's army report that the enemy depend almost solely on the resistance made beyond the city to save it from capture.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The Times' Savannah correspondent, under date of the 19th, says: The last of Sherman's army will leave Savannah tomorrow. The first and third divisions of the 20th corps were at Hardeeville, S. C., when last heard from.

The Port Royal New South, of Jan. 23d, contains an account of the occupation of Salkatchie, S. C., by our troops. It was thought that the rebels would make a stand at Ashepoo. Part of Porter's fleet had joined Dahlgren in Charleston harbor.

In the Rebel Congress.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—In the rebel House, last Thursday, Jan. 26th, there was an interesting debate on the bill to enroll slaves in the army.

During the debate Davis was severely denounced by the members.

Turner, of N. C., said he looked upon the bill as a project to arm the slaves.

The President declared himself in favor of it. When he puts them in the army as teamsters and cooks, he can make them drill or perform any other duty. He would be willing to surrender the slaves for independence. The only objection he had to making soldiers of the slaves was that they would not fight on our side. They would prove the enemy's best allies to accomplish our overthrow.

Turner said the country had too often and too long been deluded and deceived by the President's plans and projects, and none of his prophesies have been realized—none of his projects or plans have proved successful; yet the President presses new and dangerous schemes, with unabated confidence in his own judgment. He must not look for unlimited support, either from Congress or the country, in what he proposes—a wild, mad scheme of arming the slaves. The country was beginning to learn that all the Abolitionists were not in the North. Our own President had proposed abolition in such a way as created suspicion as to his soundness. Turner said it was time Congress should express an opinion about arming the slaves, and stamp upon it the indelible stigma of public sentiment.

Leach, of N. C., said he was unalterably opposed to such a measure. He believed that the day on which such policy was adopted, would sound the death knell to our cause; it would make another San Domingo of our land.

Others from South Carolina and elsewhere expressed similar views, and the question was not disposed of.

Rebel papers say that Gen. Kirby Smith, commanding the rebel trans-Mississippi Department, has repeatedly refused to comply with orders from Richmond, directing him to transfer his troops to the east side of the river.

The hatred of Davis among his own people grows more bitter daily. It is admitted that his humiliation was a design of Congressional action in placing another at the head of the armies.

A Union raiding party has gone up from Plymouth, N. C., in the direction of Weldon, said to number from 8,000 to 10,000 men, including cavalry and infantry.

Beauregard contradicts the reports that Union meetings have been held in Georgia.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—In the House, Ross, of Illinois, Copperhead, offered the following:

Resolved, That the thanks of Congress and the country are due President Lincoln for removing Gen. Butler from his military command. Tabled by 97 to 43.

The House passed a resolution declaring that Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennessee, are not entitled to Representatives in the electoral college, and therefore, no such votes shall be received or counted for President or Vice President.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The Times' special dispatch says: The Ways and Means Committee have received a report of a sub-committee on the tax bill. They have not materially altered the schedule of the old bill, except as to the tax on crude and manufactured petroleum. They have not changed the latter and only imposed a very slight tax on crude.

Miscellaneous.

FORTRESS MONROE, Jan. 27.—Advices from North Carolina state that the Weldon and Gaston bridge has been carried away by a heavy freshet.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The Herald's Fort Fisher's correspondent says the total casualties in Terry's army in the fight at Fisher were 691. Of these 11 officers and 77 men were killed, 39 officers and 472 men wounded, and 92 missing.

The Herald's Washington special dispatch says: The War Department has been notified of the arrival of rebel Congressman Henry S. Foote within the lines of Sheridan's army at Winchester.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—John R. McBride, Member of Congress from Oregon, has been appointed Chief Justice of Idaho Territory.

CAIRO, Jan. 29.—Guerrillas attacked our pickets back of Memphis on Thursday, January 26th, but were driven off with the loss of their leader and several others.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Professor Henry states that the partial burning of the Smithsonian building will not interrupt the regular active operations of the institute.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—By the steamer Havana we have advices from San Salvador to the 10th January.

The re-election of Senor Duin as President is reported. The Government had set at liberty John Bradshaw and Thomas Reynolds, who were arrested while on their way to take, in connection with others, possession of the California steamer. The tribunal declared they had no right to inflict punishment.

European News.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 27.—The Hibernian, from Liverpool has arrived. Historicus, the well known legal writer in the Times, publishes a long letter denouncing the instructions of Benjamin to the rebel Secretary of the Navy as to the treatment of neutral vessels by rebel cruisers. He hopes that whatever else these instructions may accomplish, they will at least secure this, that no Confederate cruiser shall ever again hail from an English port. It is stated that the British Government has officially announced its accession to the International Sanitary Association of Geneva, for securing better treatment of the sick and wounded in war.

[illegible]

The United States steamer [illegible] arrived at [illegible] on the 5th. She had been in collision with a British brig. The latter was damaged. Nothing [illegible] damage to the Sacramento.

In the Spanish Senate, Calderon Collantes attacked the Ministry for the abandonment of San Domingo. Marshal Narvaez replied that it was in the interest of Spain the step was proposed.

The Turin [illegible] denies the statement that at the meeting of the Italian patriots it had been decided to instigate an insurrection with the Italian Government.

The report of the Committee of Inquiry into the September disturbances at Turin, with the Minghetti Cabinet frees it from the charge of having violated the laws, but charges it with want of energy and forethought, and with having caused by the [illegible] of the facts the reports which had produced considerable sensation at Turin.

It is stated that the Prussian Government will submit bills to the members for the further development of the naval power of Prussia, and for the opening of a canal to connect the Mediterranean ocean with the Baltic. The difficulty with [illegible] was expected to be settled without much difficulty.

California News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—All the statements and evidence thus far show that the killing of Richard Johnson by Frank Taylor, on the Saucelito Rancho, was perfectly justifiable and done in self defense.

Frederick Woodworth, a prominent citizen and brother of [illegible] Selim Woodworth, died this morning from enlargement of the esophagus.

[illegible], who was shot by Schmidt, is not expected to live.

Last night during a melee in a Jackson street crib, a [illegible] named Woodworth shot a woman through the arm. Anna Dillon split open the face of the miner's companion with a spittoon. All hands were arrested.

E. H. [illegible], the absconding defaulter from Wells, Fargo & Co., has been heard from at Honolulu, from which port he sailed for Massachusetts.

The discharged volunteers had a meeting yesterday, and resolved to join in the reception of Sickles.

Currency bills, to-day, 99@95; coin bills, 26@24; legal tenders, 49@50, firm; gold, yesterday, 200@203.

The movement in candles, last evening, resulted in sales of round parcels of Knapps Anchor at 23 cents, closing at higher rates.

Arrived—steamer Oregon, from Victoria.

The brig Sheet Anchor, while standing out of the harbor this morning, drifted on Mile Rock, and was towed off by the steamer [illegible], without material damage.

James Speed, Esq., left our city on Friday for Washington, upon the summons of President Lincoln, to assume the position of Attorney-General of the United States. Associated as we have been, politically with Mr. Speed upon the Union platform of Kentucky, until the Presidential canvass temporarily separated us, we know his unswerving loyalty, and we are convinced that he is not of that fanatical class which denounced the supporters of McClellan as traitors. No more faithful or honest gentleman can be found than James Speed. He has always been an emancipationist upon principle, both in a humanitarian and economic point of view, and it was therefore natural that Mr. Lincoln should call upon him to fill the high, dignified and responsible position of the law adviser of his Cabinet. We feel every confidence that he will bring to the discharge of his duties ability, integrity and close application.—Louisville Journal.

LIABILITIES OF EXPRESS COMPANIES.—Last week, in the Supreme Court at Baltimore, in a suit by a firm against Adams Express Company for the loss of a package, it was decided that a common carrier may, by express stipulation, limit his liabilities, and that the party intrusting him with goods for carriage on the conditions expressed, enters into a special contract, by which his rights are concluded. The case is carried to the Court of Appeals.

A recent number of the New York Day Book reads the World out of the Democratic party, because it abandons the Democratic creed—"the restoration of the Union with slavery." The Day Book says the position assumed by the World amounts to this: "The Abolitionists will succeed in carrying out their designs of negro equality, and we propose that the Democrat party shall acquiesce."

An Irish hackman who carried Gen. Grant to his hotel in New York, spread himself in the following manner:

"Here's to meself, Dennis Connelly, the biggest man in Amerky but one. I've driven the Lieutenant General of the United States, and it's more than Bobby Lee ever did."

For our part, we are in favor of reading out of the Union party all radical agitators who can find nothing better to do than to clamor for negro suffrage.—Rec.

No: give them good and sensible advice, and then let them severely alone.—Ex.

Gen. Scott presented Gen. Grant a volume of his autobiography, with this written on the fly-leaf:

"From the oldest to the ablest General in the world. WINFIELD SCOTT."

Mayor Failing occupied the Chair.

The following members were present—Councilmen Bennett, Cook, Frazar, Gradon, Gilmore, Hoffman, McCraken, Robertson. Absent—Mr. Starr.

The records of the previous meeting were read by the Clerk and approved by the Council.

A petition was read from the Foremen of the several fire companies, representing that in consequence of the onerous duties imposed on the Chief Engineer, as fire warden, etc., his salary be fixed at $500 per annum, which would be no more than a fair compensation. Referred to the committee on fire and water.

A petition of T. Beary, asking a reduction of $800 on his assessment, was referred to the committee on accounts and current expenses.

A petition of Lyon, Story and others, asking that the gas pipe, leading to the lamp on the corner of Stark and Fifth streets, be repaired, was referred to the committee on streets and public property.

The City Collector reported the amounts collected for the month of January, $703. Report adopted and ordered to be placed on file.

The City Recorder reported the amount of fees collected for the month of January, $232 10. Report adopted and ordered to be placed on file.

The following claims were audited: James W. Going, $70; Estes & Stimpson $12 67; David Monastes $20 70; John Donnelly $9; Wm. Davidson $6; H. L. Pittock $54 50; Hodge & Calef, $11 50.

An ordinance appropriating $9,200 to meet the current expenses of the city for the ensuing year was read the first and second times.

An ordinance to establish a base line and erect monuments was read first and second times.

An ordinance providing for the placing of stone monuments in the streets of Portland was read the first and second times.

An ordinance declaring in what time returns shall be made for delinquent taxes, was read the third time, and on motion, was referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

An ordinance providing for codifying and publishing the ordinances of the city was read the third time and placed upon its final passage and passed.

On motion, Rule 28 was suspended and the ordinance to establish a base line and erect monuments was read the third time, and on motion, was put upon its final passage and passed.

Rule 28 was again suspended and the ordinance to provide for the placing of stone monuments was laid on the table.

On motion Council adjourned.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.—The following officers were elected by the firemen of the respective Companies reported, at meetings held last evening:

Willamette Engine Co. No. 1—Foreman, A. R. Dufrene; 1st Assistant, C. C. Phillips; 2d Assistant, J. L. Tribet; President, A. G. Walling; Secretary, W. D. Carter; Treasurer, S. M. Smith. To the Board of Delegates, J. S. White, W. S. Ladd, S. Norris.

Multnomah Engine Co. No. 2—Foreman, A. H. Johnson; 1st Assistant, Jos. Tucker; 2d Assistant, A. B. Stewart; President, A. J. Butler; Secretary, W. L. Leonard; Treasurer, . Delegates, A. B. Halleck, Ben. F. Norden.

Columbian Engine Co. No. 3—Foreman, Thos. G. Young; 1st Assistant, J. Ward; 2d Assistant, S. Burheim; President, H. Boyd; Secretary, A. Zeiber; Treasurer, J. Koenig. Delegates, H. Boyd, A. Dodge, J. Zeiber.

Protection Engine Co. No. 4—Foreman, H. G. Miller; 1st Assistant, R. Holman; 2d Assistant, A. Nicola; President, A. Rosenheim; Secretary, Wm. T. Paterson; Treasurer, M. Moskowitz. Delegates, R. Hendrie, F. Opitz, A. B. Richardson.

Vigilance H. & L. Co. No. 1—Foreman, L. R. Martin; 1st Assistant, V. Paris; 2d Assistant, T. M. Temple; President, H. C. Coulson; Secretary, J. Cohn; Treasurer, M. O'Connor. Delegates, L. R. Martin, Jacob Mayer, H. C. Coulson.

Mr. M. Jaretzky tendered his resignation as a member of Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company, which was accepted, and a vote of thanks for his past efficient services, rendered in his official capacity as Foreman, were passed by the Company.

GOING EAST.—The steamship Pacific will carry from our city Mr. A. Bushwiler, an old citizen who is well known to most of the financial and commercial men of Portland, as being for years interested in behalf of the prosperity and growth of the commonwealth of Oregon, and of the city once Reporter for this paper. For three years past Mr. B. has collected statistics for publication in the Portland Directory, and leaves behind him the evidences of his labor for the past year, in an excellent style of book. His health demands a change of climate, for the improvement of which he leaves the State for a trip to the East. Mr. M. Jaretzky and family, also leave by the same ship for Alexandria, Va. We wish them all a pleasant voyage.

A MURDERESS ESCAPED.—Mrs. Caroline Edwards, the half-breed woman who killed her husband about a year ago, and was convicted in the United States District Court, has escaped from the custody of the Sheriff at Vancouver. Her case was appealed to the Supreme Court, and the decision affirmed, and her sentence of death would have been passed at the coming term of the District Court in March. We understand her escape was through the negligence of her jailor, who was her interpreter on trial, and supposed to be friendly toward her, although he protests any participation in aid of her flight. She is thought to be in the Chehalis country, and her re-capture is quite certain.

NEW QUARTZ DISCOVERY.—We yesterday had further evidences of the existence of gold near Rainier and have considerable faith in the report. In addition to this we have reports of the discovery of new and rich quartz lodes on the opposite, or Washington Territory side of the Columbia river, and were shown specimens of the rock, said to have come from there, by Mr. C. S. Silver and Mr. Geo. T. Myers. A party leave to-day for the purpose of further "prospecting," from whom we shall be enabled to obtain full particulars relating to the discovery. We trust their efforts may be crowned with success, as we firmly believe will be the case.

STORMS AT SEA.—Capt. Miller of the bark Almatia, arrived by the steamship last evening, leaving his vessel at Oak Point. He experienced a severe storm at sea, but the Almatia will be safe in port to-day. The memoranda of the Pacific gives an account of the loss of the sloop Fanny, and the Providential escape of her crew, who were taken on board the steamer.

GOOD.—We learn by W. W. Parker, Esq., who arrived from Astoria last evening, that Capt. Ketchum has succeeded in getting his schooner off the spot where she had been driven ashore, and the hull is found to be damaged but a trifle. In the course of a few weeks she will be making regular trips again.

EXAMINATION.—There will be a final examination of students in book-keeping, at the Commercial Academy, in Parrish's block, at 2 o'clock P. M. to-day. The rooms will be open to any who may desire to attend.

A FAT BEAR.—Mr. Johnson, of the Empire market, killed a very fat bear at their slaughter yard yesterday. It was one that had been tamed, a young Bruin. The carcass attracted considerable attention at the market.

FURNITURE SALE.—Mr. A. B. Richardson will sell the household goods of Mr. Jaretzky, on the premises, at the corner of Stark and Sixth streets, at 10 o'clock A. M. to-day.

NAVIGATION.—The steamer Wilson G. Hunt leaves this morning for the Cascades; but as there is no certainty of getting through takes no passengers.

THE PACIFIC.—The steamship Pacific will leave Couch's wharf at 10 o'clock to-morrow, for Victoria and San Francisco.

STOP THAT COUGHING!
Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the one destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supercede all similar preparations. WHAT KILLED HIM!

A Greenback Case!
HAVING BEEN COMPELLED TO ACCEPT OF Legal Tenders at par since the 17th day of December, 1862, in the rent of my handsome Brick Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets, I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public at large, that
Jacob Mayer
Leased the building from me on the 17th day of February, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no such currency in vogue, and it was understood the terms were CASH. Since the date above stated I have received the depreciated currency regularly, and a protest for the rent of the CITY OF PARIS STORE,
Making less than two-fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates and every word he now to comply with his contract, and pay in COIN, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public in what kind of a man he must be to take such an advantage of the times to cover a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can now only see what it costs to have such tenants. G. W. VAUGHN.

Admiral Farragut at Home.—The Brooklyn Union gives an interesting account of a charming conversation between Admiral Farragut and some of his admirers at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, of Tuesday evening, the 20th, in which the old hero of the Hartford explained how he became to be lashed at the masthead during the battle of Mobile. The scene is described as follows:

While the main portion of the company were enjoying themselves up stairs, a pleasant scene, which it was our privilege to witness, was enacting below in the private apartments of Wier, the janitor of the Academy. The Admiral and a few ladies and gentlemen were present at a substantial collation, and there was such a jolly time.

"Admiral," said a lady, "do tell me if it was true, as they said, that you were lashed to the mast down at Mobile Bay?"

"Well," said the Admiral—whom we have already said is as artless as a child—"I'll tell you all about it. You know in a fight the smoke of the guns lies on the water, and, naturally, I would want to see over it to know what was going on. Well, I would jump upon a box—so high (indicating with his hand)—then I would get up a little higher, and by and by I got up to where they said. I suppose I was two hours getting as high as that. I had a little rope that I had lashed around me just to keep me from falling in case I got hurt in a fight."

"When have you heard from your friend Admiral Buchanan?" asked a gentleman.

"Oh, I saw a letter from him yesterday. He complains bitterly of his hard treatment, as he calls it, in Fort Lafayette, and wants me to use my influence to get him in the Naval Hospital. They (the rebels) all seem to think a good deal of me," he continued with charming naivette, "although I have done so much to hurt 'em."

"Buchanan didn't lose his leg," he remarked, in correction of an observation of one of the company. "The surgeon saved that for him, although we tried our best to knock it off. Tell you what," he went on, "I was glad enough to see that flag come down on the ram."

"Which do you like best, Admiral, being afloat or ashore?" inquired a lady.

"Well," he replied, with a pleasant smile, "I enjoy life everywhere. I take the world as I find it."

That he enjoys it was evident enough last night to all who had the delight of seeing him.

"Well, Admiral, what do you think of the war?" was another question. "It was not often, you know, that we had a chance to 'pump' at such an illustrious handle."

"It's all right. We've got 'em. They'll begin to show it soon." He expressed great hopes of the success of the expedition that has recently sailed. "Porter," said he, "is a noble fellow. I know him well, and he will not disappoint the country."

We congratulated him (we trust not many hours in advance) on his probable elevation to the rank of Vice Admiral, in pursuance of the resolution perfected in Congress yesterday. He replied: "Yes, I'm much obliged to them; I'm very thankful to everybody"—"if he couldn't think of any special ground people have for honoring him above his fellows.

And so the glorious old fellow (we don't know, either, why we should call such a merry boy "old") went on with a flow of delightful talk, of which we are sure he will pardon and our readers thank us for giving so much to the public.

About twelve o'clock he rose to go, and upon being offered an escort to New York he said: "When I am poking around down South, then I often want a pilot; but around here I am at home and can paddle my own canoe." He at length consented to accept a "convoy," as he called it, but insisted that it should be a "single" man. Said he, "I know what good wives sometimes say when their husbands are out too late." And this reminds us that the only regret our people had last night was that the noble lady of the Admiral did not accompany him. She would, we are sure, have been delighted with our affectionate reception of the old hero of the "dear old Hartford."

To Major Haggerty fell the honor of "convoying" the Admiral to his domestic harbor. May God preserve his future voyage of life from all tempests that blow and seas that shatter; and that he may at last cast anchor in that haven where is eternal peace, is the prayer of every patriot.

The Tomb of Washington in the Hands of Guerillas.—In one respect, three years of war has made no difference in this vicinity, so far as guerillas are concerned. In 1861, it was deemed unsafe to go from Alexandria to Mount Vernon, and there is the same danger now. The guerillas are very bold around here, frequently coming to within five miles of the city limits, and if a courier is met by them on any of the high roads, he is unceremoniously robbed, though seldom receiving bodily harm, unless resistance is made. The farmers in the vicinity have lost heavily in their stock, these rebel raiders having a great predilection for seizing all the horses they can lay their hands upon. From the suburbs of Alexandria you can see a range of hills, on which can also be discerned the tower of Fairfax Seminary, and beyond that tower it is very unsafe to travel, for the region in the vicinity is infested with guerillas, some of whom may, as you look toward those very hills, be gazing therefrom with a covetous eye upon the city, and only kept from entering it by the Union troops stationed there. And as to Mount Vernon, it is now very rarely visited. There are no longer tourists from all parts of the country gathering to do homage to the shrine of Washington. The negro hack drivers in the streets of Alexandria prudently decline to drive anybody out there, no matter how large is the proffered pay. It is fortunate that the Prince of Wales visited Washington's tomb before the war, for it would have been rather humiliating to have been obliged to send with him a large military escort to Mount Vernon to save him from the robels prowling around in sight of the National Capital.—Letter from Alexandria.

Chalking the Score.—It is said that in the Norwegian mines a singular and striking custom is observed in paying the weekly wages of the men there employed. They all present themselves on the Saturday evening to the inspector, who hears from each man the number of hours he has worked on the successive days of the week past, compares the total given with his own notes on the subject, and having settled the account, calls the miner, bids him turn around, and writes in white chalk on his black back the amount due him. Thus mysteriously numbered, the man has got to go to the cashier, who also turns him around to look at the figures, and pays him without his having a word to say. The method is an expeditious one—two or three strokes of chalk settles the matter; it is prudent, for the miner has no chance to alter the figure in his own favor; and economical, for a brush removes all traces of the inscription, and the same black jacket is ready for the next Saturday.

It is now distinctly ascertained that in many parts of Australia, "leads" (as they are termed by the miners) of "wash dirt," consisting of submerged river beds, exist hundreds of feet below the present surface of the earth, and many companies are now engaged in profitably working these extraordinary deposits.

Kossuth has three nephews in the Union army. Col. L. Zulavsky, who, when Gen. Asboth was disabled in the late engagement at Marianna, Florida, took the command and brought the engagement to a successful close; Major A. Ruttkay, commanding the First Florida Cavalry, and Lt. B. Zulavsky, in his brother's regiment.

A portion of our army in Alabama voted for President under rebel fire. At Taylor's Springs (Alabama), the cavalry under Colonel Hatch were struggling to prevent an advance of Hood, and as the regiment voted for Lincoln and Johnson, an occasional shell hissed over the ballot box, and the patter of bullets came up from the swamp. The brave Union boys took turns in voting and fighting.

Gen. Lee is described by a Northern army correspondent rather glowingly. He says of the distinguished chief: "Lee himself is worn and anxious, but as cheerful to the eye and as indomitable as ever. I assure you that Lee is more than ever a sight for gods and men. The same tranquil modesty, utter absence of vanity, egotism or self-seeking, and determination to spend and be spent in the discharge of his duty. It is certainly one of the most beautiful characters I ever read of—certainly the most beautiful ever encountered."

The English Language.—The words of the English language are a compound of several foreign languages. The English language may be looked upon as a conglomeration, both in words and expressions, of various dialects. Their origin is from the Saxon language. Our laws were derived from the Norman, our military terms from the French, our scientific names from the Greek, and our stock of nouns from the Latin, through the medium of the French. Almost all the verbs in the English language are taken from the German, and nearly every noun or adjective is taken from other dialects. The English language is composed of 15,033 words, of which 6,732 are from the Latin, 4,312 from the French, 1,665 from the Saxon, 1,639 from the Greek, 691 from the Dutch, 211 from the Italian, 106 from the German (not including verbs), 90 from the Welch, 75 from the Danish, 56 from the Spanish, 50 from the Icelandic, 31 from the Swedish, 31 from the Gothic, 16 from the Hebrew, 15 from the Teutonic, and the remainder from the Arabic, Syriac, Turkish, Portuguese, Irish, Scotch, and other languages.

Useless Young Ladies.—A contemporary thus seriously speaks of that very large class of useless young ladies who glory in being above useful employment.

The number of idle, useless girls in our cities seems to be steadily increasing. They lounge or sleep through their mornings, parade the streets during the afternoon, and assemble in frivolous companies of their own and the other sex to pass away their evenings. What a store of unhappiness for themselves and others that are up for the coming time, when real duties and high responsibilities shall be thoughtlessly resumed. They are skilled in no domestic duties—nay, they despise them; they have no habit of industry, nor taste for the useful. What will they be as wives and mothers? Alas for the husbands and children; alas for themselves! Who can wonder if domestic unhappiness and domestic ruin follows?

Southern Wit.—While the train was stopping at a small place near Weldon, a robust Georgia trooper hailed one of the many loungers about with: "Say, you tar-heel, got any tar for sale?" The native so addressed answered rather sharply to his jaunty defender, "No, sirree." "Well, you got some pitch here, haven't you?" "No pitch," answered the sand-hiller. "Why, then, what have you done with them, for you know you like such stuff?" About this time the long, lean specimen of a tar-maker brightened up and replied: "Well, we sold all we had to Jeff. Davis." The Georgian, thrown off his guard, could not resist asking, "Why, what did old Davis want with all that tar?" "[illegible] pitch," "Why, you Georgians run so, that he had to buy something to make you stick."

Unbonneting the Ladies.—At a Paris theatre all ladies are requested to take off their bonnets. This proviso has been found necessary, since, owing to the present fashion prevailing in that article, [illegible] it is almost impossible for [illegible] behind a lady with her bonnet on to see what is going on forward on the stage. The end has been attained by placing printed bills about the theatre, containing the following announcement: "All young [illegible] and handsome ladies are politely requested to take off their bonnets. All others may keep them on."

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable and ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease in any way connected with the disorder or decay of the Procreative Functions. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once relieved, revived and built up. It well may this rek be termed the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man, he stands erect, he moves with a firm step, his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active, and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
